

TRAINING BENEFITS HANDBOOK

December 2018

The Washington state Employment Security Department (ESD) has produced this handbook to assist customers interested in enrolling in approved job training.

This handbook is based on current UI legislation; statements are intended for general information and do not have the effect of law. This handbook is not designed to cover all phases of the law or to answer all questions; it is designed as an overview of training programs for ESD customers.

The Employment Security Department is an equal opportunity employer/program. Auxiliary aids and services are available upon request to individuals with disabilities. Language assistance services for limited English proficient individuals are available free of charge. Washington Relay Service: 711

TRAINING BENEFITS PROGRAM

The Training Benefits (TB) program offers additional weeks of unemployment benefits so eligible individuals can train for careers in high-demand fields. If you are approved for the TB program:

1. Your weekly job search requirements are waived while you are enrolled and within one quarter of starting school.
2. You could receive up to 52 weeks of TB minus the weeks you receive of your regular unemployment benefits.
3. TB does not pay for tuition, books or other school related fees.

Who is eligible for the Training Benefits program?

You must be eligible for regular Washington unemployment benefits (or have exhausted those benefits) and:

1. Served in the U.S. military or Washington National Guard in the last year or are currently serving in the National Guard and the assessment determines you need job-related training in order to find suitable employment in your labor market ; or
2. Are disabled due to an injury or illness and the department determines you are unable to return to your regular type of work; or
3. Were a low income worker (earned less than 130 percent of the Washington state minimum wage); or
4. Are a dislocated worker:
 - a. You have separated because your employer permanently reduced operations, or you have separated from a declining occupation, or you have separated from employment due to restrictions related to the escape of non-native finfish, and
 - b. The assessment determines you need job-related training in order to find suitable employment in your labor market.
5. Have a financial plan for completing the training in case your unemployment benefits are exhausted before your training is complete.

What is approved training?

Approved training is:

1. Training for a high-demand occupation in your local labor market or a labor market to which you are willing to commute or relocate;
2. A school and program on the Eligible Training Provider (ETP) list at http://www.careerbridge.wa.gov/Page.aspx?cid=Eligible_Training_Provider_List
3. Full-time for most unemployed workers. You may qualify for part-time if you are a dislocated worker or have a disability; and
4. Focused on vocational training (the training must not be primarily intended to meet the requirements of a bachelor's or higher level college degree).

TB application deadlines

1. Dislocated workers must submit a complete application and enroll in training before the end of their benefit year. Training Benefits are denied if this deadline is not met. There is no good cause reason in the law for missing this deadline.
2. Disabled, low income, U.S. military and Washington National Guard workers must submit a complete application within 90 days and must enroll in training within 120 days after opening their claim. If you have a good cause reason for missing the 90 or 120 deadline, you may be eligible.
3. Training Benefits cannot be approved to start more than one quarter or semester before the training start date.

To get started, go to esd.wa.gov/jobs-and-training/training-benefits-application to download the TB application. If you need help with the application, you can visit your local WorkSource office or contact the Worker Retraining Advisor at your school.

You can complete an application online using your eServices account. Please make sure to return the school certification filled out and signed by the school.

If you would like more information or have additional questions, please call the Training Benefits Unit at 877-600-7701.

Once you are approved for the TB program

As long as you maintain satisfactory progress in your approved training program, you do not have to look for work while collecting unemployment benefits.

How much money can you receive while in the TB program?

The TB program can add additional weeks of benefit payments while you are in training and after your regular unemployment benefits run out.

TB can pay you 52 times your weekly benefit amount, minus any regular unemployment benefits you receive. For example, if you received 20 weeks of regular unemployment benefits, you can receive up to 32 weeks of training benefits. If you do not receive your full weekly benefit amount each week (because you are working, for example), benefits may be available longer, but the total amount available will not change.

You can receive training benefits until:

- You run out of money, or
- You are no longer in your approved training program, or
- You reach two years past the end of your regular unemployment benefit year.

Because we can't pay you training benefits after you complete school and benefits may exhaust before you complete your training program, you may want to begin searching for a job in your new occupation before you complete your training program.

You can contact your local WorkSource office to prepare for and get help looking for work. To locate the WorkSource office closest to you, go www.worksourcewa.com/microsite/content.aspx?appid=MGSWAOFFLOC&pagetype=simple&seo=officelocator

Your responsibilities while in training

Tell us if something changes with your approved training program

You are responsible to let us know if anything changes with your approved training program, such as:

- You don't start school as planned.
- Your graduation or completion date changes.
- You drop out of school.

- You reduce the number of classes you are taking.
- You change schools or programs.

If you don't tell us about changes, your benefits could be denied, and you may have to pay back some or all of the unemployment benefits you've received. For more information on making a change in your training plan, see "When must you request a modification" (on page 2).

Complete and return progress reports

You must maintain satisfactory progress and regularly submit progress reports. "Satisfactory progress" means:

- You do not fall below a 2.0 grade-point average for more than two quarters in a row;
- Your grade-point average is sufficient to graduate or complete your training; and
- You are taking enough classes to graduate or complete your training on time.

If you are in a self-paced program

If you are in a self-paced or ungraded training program, you must participate in class and pass any exams to complete training on time.

We will send you progress reports as often as every six weeks. You must fill out your section and have your designated school representative complete the school's section. You will need to answer questions such as:

- Has any of the program information changed?
- Are you making satisfactory progress?
- If you are no longer attending class, did you complete the training?

The progress report will ask your designated school representative if the information you provided is correct. He or she will also need to sign the document.

Important: You are required to send back the progress report on time. Most schools have designated staff available to complete the Progress Report during breaks.

If your school is on break when your progress report is due and no one is available to complete the school section, write that on the form and return it on time.

If you do not return progress reports on time, your benefits may be denied and you may have to pay us back some or all of the unemployment benefits you've received.

If you are required to attend full-time and your school does not offer enough courses during summer quarter for you to attend full-time, you must:

- Take all courses available to you for your program;
- Provide a letter from your school verifying that you are taking all courses available; and
- Provide proof of registration showing you will attend full-time in the fall quarter.

When do you need to request a modification to your training plan?

We approved your training plan based on what you told us in your initial application. When you make certain changes to your training, you must request a modification. We will review your modification and decide if you continue to be eligible for the TB program.

You must submit a modification request when you change:

- Your training start or completion date;
- Your school or program;
- The degree, licensing or certificate you are trying to complete; or
- Your status from full time to part time, even when your final term is less than full time, if your enrollment status is not changing due to class availability and your program end date remains the same.

If you are required to attend full-time, but the number of classes or credits you need to complete your training in your final term is considered less than full-time enrollment, then you will need to provide a letter from your school with your modification request. The letter must say:

- That you need only the remaining classes;
- Why your final quarter does not have enough classes to be considered full time; and
- That you will complete training this quarter when you pass your remaining classes.

If you are unsure whether you need to complete a modification request, call the Training Benefits Hotline at 877-600-7701.

To obtain a modification application:

- Go to esd.wa.gov/jobs-and-training/training-benefits-modification to download a Training Benefits Modification application; or
- Go to your local WorkSource employment center or other local employment center (if living outside Washington).

You can visit your WorkSource office or your school’s worker-retraining counselor for help submitting your Training Benefits Modification application.

What if you work while going to school?

If you work while going to school, you may still be eligible to receive some unemployment benefits. When you submit your weekly claim, you must tell us about any work you did and income you received or will receive for that week. We adjust your weekly benefit amount by deducting part of your earnings. The amount you will get depends on whether you are receiving regular benefits or Training Benefits. To be eligible for benefits, you must be “unemployed” for the week.

You are considered to be unemployed during a week if:

- You work fewer than the number of hours consistent with full-time work for your occupation, and
- You are receiving Training Benefits and your gross earnings are less than one and one-third times your weekly benefit amount plus $5. Use the “Excess-Earnings Chart” that begins on page 8 in this booklet.

Determine how much will be deducted from your benefits

If you are receiving regular unemployment benefits, we will subtract $5 from your gross earnings, multiply by 75 percent, round up to the next dollar, and then deduct that amount from your weekly benefit amount. Use the Earnings Deduction Chart in the Handbook for Unemployed Workers.

If you are receiving Training Benefits and are unemployed for a week, we will subtract $5 from your gross earnings, multiply by 50 percent, round up to the next dollar, and then deduct that amount from your weekly benefit amount.

You can also use the Excess Earnings and Earnings Deduction charts at end of this handbook to help you calculate your weekly benefit amount (WBA).

On the Excess Earnings Chart:

1. Find your weekly benefit amount in the column titled "Your weekly benefit amount (WBA) is:"
2. Look at the amount just to the right in the column titled, "And your gross work earnings are at least":
 - a. If your gross earnings are equal to or more than the amount listed for your WBA, you will not be eligible to receive benefits for the week because you aren't "unemployed."
 - b. If your gross earnings are less than the amount listed for your WBA, continue to the Earnings Deduction Chart.

On the Earnings Deduction Chart:

If you are receiving Training Benefits, use the Earnings Deduction Chart as follows:

1. Find the range that includes the amount you made in gross earnings in the column titled "If your gross work earnings are between".
2. Look at the amount just to the right in the column titled "We will deduct". This amount will be deducted from your training benefits. Subtract this amount from your WBA to know how much you may receive in Training Benefits for the week.
