What happens next?

- After the close of recruitment, Membership Subcommittee members will select applicants for interviews and contact you if you’re selected.

- After the interview, subcommittee members will contact your references and meet to discuss findings. Subcommittee members will make their recommendations to the Boards and Commissions office.

- If you are selected for consideration and are currently employed, the GCDE will send a letter to your employer asking if you have time to commit to the Committee in addition to your job duties.

- The Governor will make the final appointments.

- The goal of the GCDE is to have new members appointed by the Governor by Jan. 1, 2020.

About serving on the committee

Currently, committee members meet:
- In person at subcommittee meetings; and
- By conference calls and webinars; and
- At three in-person meetings of the full committee, usually held in the Olympia-Lacey area.
The GCDE has four standing subcommittees. New members usually choose to serve on one or two subcommittees that interest them. The GCDE chairperson makes final decisions about subcommittee appointments based on the needs of the subcommittees.

Subcommittees meet every six to eight weeks and more often if necessary to complete projects.

The Governor has asked Boards and Commissions not to travel without prior approval from the Office of Financial Management, although exceptions have been made.
